

Sirris Boosts Learning Ecosystem for Energy and Tech at Thor Park

27 June 2025, 19:05

Paul Peeters

Learning and Innovating Together in Genk

As a technology partner, Sirris actively supports the T2 Thor Park Learning Ecosystem – an initiative that promotes lifelong learning in energy and technology. With the support of ESF and in partnership with SyntraPXL and others, Sirris helps strengthen the region by sharing expertise and developing skills.

Why Sirris Invests in Learning at Thor Park

Since 2023, Sirris has been located at Thor Park as the first organisation to move into the FACThory building – a place designed for collaboration, innovation, and entrepreneurship. Our choice for this location was no coincidence: Thor Park is a hub for technological growth and offers the perfect setting to connect with innovative networks.

Driven by Our Mission to Support Industry

This collaboration reflects our core mission: helping companies in the tech industry overcome innovation challenges. We do this through knowledge sharing, infrastructure, and collective projects. We believe the future of industry depends on well-trained people and strong links between education and technology.

Want to know more about this project?

EnergyVille and T2 campus ignite an appetite for learning in Genk

Discover more

Authors

Paul Peeters